Abstract:The article briefly touched upon the issue of the scientific researches of the orientalist, historian A. Orinboev and their significance in the study of the history of Central Asia.

Keywords:Source, history, Central Asia, international, project.

The analysis of A. Orinboev's scientific research proves that he translated manuscripts related to the history of Central Asia and put them into scientific circulation.

From 1993 to 2009, as a head of local and international grants, he implemented projects serving the fields of history, source studies, and oriental studies. As a result, a number of books were published in the framework of international scientific cooperation with historical scientists in countries such as Iran, Afghanistan, UAE, Germany, Japan and the USA.

It was found that Asomiddin Orinboev also carried out large-scale scientific and organizational activities. In 1973-1988, he was the scientific secretary of the special council of the Institute of Oriental Studies of the Russian Federation, in 1988-1995, the chairman of this council, and in 1995, he was the deputy chairman. At the same time, he worked as a member of the scientific council of the Tashkent Islamic University that awarded the candidate and doctorate degrees (2004).

Since 1988, Asomiddin Orinboev worked as a member of the editorial board of the scientific journal "Social Sciences in Uzbekistan". Since 1990, he has been the editor-in-chief of the "Sharqshunoslik" almanac magazine.

In 1996, he worked as a board member of the international Amir Temur charity fund, which was established on the occasion of the 660th anniversary of Amir Temur. The main goal of the fund is to expand the scope of research on the political, social and state management of Amir Temur, to study the historical manuscript sources related to the topic, to publish them for introduction to the scientific community, to repair the historical monuments built during the era of Amir Temur and the Timurids, to carry out activities that serve to increase the sense of patriotism among young people consisted of Asomiddin Orinboev, among many intellectuals of our country, contributed to the development of the history of Amir Temur and the Timurid period, and to the expansion of international relations.

In the activity of Asomiddin Orinboev, in-depth teaching and promotion of oriental studies and history among the general public was of great importance. Along with the translation of manuscript works, he spent many years training experts in the field of scientific potential and forming them as real scientists.

In the book specially prepared for the celebration of Asomiddin Orinboev's 75th birthday, "D. Yusupova, U. Uvatov, O. Boriev, J. Djappasbaeva, Yaoiy, N. Toshev, O'. Sultonov, G. Karimov, S. Gulomov Asomiddin Orinboev scientific scientists who protected under his leadership and are preparing to do so"[1.1.]. D. Yusupova candidate and doctorate [2.1.], O. Boriev [3.1.] defense of candidacy work and topics are presented [4.1.]. This book was published in 2004. After this period, N. Toshev [5.1.] and O'. Sultonov [6.1.] also successfully defended their candidate's works under the scientific guidance of Asomiddin Orinboev.

In addition, Asomiddin Orinboev wrote reviews of the scientific works of many scientists. For example, he acted as an official opponent in the doctoral and candidate thesis defense of researchers such as A.Zokhir, M.Ya.Vokhidiy, E.Karimov, D.Koshimova, K.Vokhidova.

In conclusion, it can be said that A. Orinboev really has a rich scientific heritage that helps to study the history of Central Asia. Their study and research is waiting for the youth of today.
