WARM OPINIONS OF FOREIGN LITERARY CRITICS ABOUT THE FAMOUS POET ZULFIYA.*TO ZULFIYABEGI

May your flight over the horizon of the homeland continue for a lifetime

May your voice resound like the echo of time.
Who is the cry of the centuries, whose lines are equal to the heartbeat
Uvaysi, Nadira, Zebuniso, Mehri, Mahastiyil,
The torch of the meeting you have fixed is your classic thought
Always when you write, looking forward to the fate of the world
Long mornings were your companion with a clear mind and understanding.
Winged Hope, Igbol Erur, every partner you wrote
Your shahbaz flew higher than the star of Suraya.
Your creation of the rubabi theme is the shine of hearts
A wonderful delicate nature, your mind is a jeweler.
The magnificent East is manifested in your pure soul,
This is ours, Your morality is complete with chastity.

THE OPINION OF UZBEKI LITERATURE CRITICS ABOUT THE FAMOUS POET ZULFIVA Ozod Sharofiddinov.

Hero of Uzbekistan Life goes by. As life goes by, a person often remembers the paths he has traveled, the years he has experienced. The years and paths a person has traveled - what are they? Distance, time, or something else, I think they are people you have met throughout your life, people who have left their mark on your life - friends, relatives, teachers, comrades. Unfortunately, many of them have already left for the country of "nowhere", as the poet Sheikhzade put it, but their pure souls are alive, they come to me from time to time, we chat, we grieve, we consult. As time passes, their place becomes clear, the faces of many become clearer, the light in their faces and eyes becomes sharper. Such recollections, such memories always inspire a person, give strength, and bring satisfaction. If I have met such great people on my life's path, if I have talked to them, thought along with them, and sympathized with them, then my life has not been in vain.

ERKIN VOKHIDOV, HERO OF UZBEKISTAN, PEOPLE'S POET .

This morning I remembered Sister Zulfiya. What a noble, bright woman she was. When I think about it, Sister Zulfiya, with her poems, her witty and imaginative character, her pure beliefs and intelligent thoughts, was a person who occupied a large place in my life and made up a large part of my spiritual world. She was such a noble woman that every time I came home, she would immediately wake up, straighten my clothes, tie my unbuttoned buttons, straighten my hair (yes, my hair - once upon a time there was even a lot of hair on this head) - in short, I tried to appear average in her eyes in every way. I had heard Zulfiya's name during the war years, and I would memorize her poetry collection "Hijron" and her epic poem "They Called Her Farhad" and read it in many places. I got to know her more closely later.

A POET'S LIFE SONG

What is poetry? Each era seeks to give its own answer to this question that has been around for thousands of years. Is it a craft or an art? Is it magic that captivates the mind? Or is it a miracle that no one can ever understand? At one time, poetry was called magic, blasphemy that misleads people from the right path. At another time, it was elevated to the level of prophethood. At one time, poetry was understood as propaganda, at another time, it was understood as fighting for human victory, freedom, and happiness. Times have passed, worldviews have changed, religions, beliefs, and ideas have changed. But the poet has always been a descendant of the people, a beacon of the nation's home, a voice that reaches tomorrow. He was born as the memory of the people and the era.

A country without a poet is a meadow without a nightingale, a sky without stars, a harbor without a lighthouse. The poet Forty years ago, in the year one thousand nine hundred and forty-four, the Uzbekistan State Publishing House published a small collection of poems. It contained only eighteen poems. On the day this booklet, called "In the Days of Hijran," appeared, a poem named Zulfiya was born into the world. This poem was a single line, in which the soul of a contemporary woman was reflected with her universal pain, anguish, and cry. The name Zulfiya embodied the cry and cry of hearts during hijran. Indeed, poetry is not a title - it is a profession! The proof of this can be seen in the poem of the poet Zulfiya with all her being, with all her tones and colors.
